

Night falls
Slowly, lights dim.
Signs still flash
Taxis still drive
Countless people still at work
But the sun's company
is gone.

Children drift to sleep in their beds
if lucky enough to have one.
Adults collapse wearily onto their chairs.

The ant-hole is silent...
the beehive rests.

-Jacqueline Schmeizl